

Brooke Bird Announcement

While our practice here at Brooke Bird has been established for over 50 years we recognize the importance of planning for tomorrow and in doing so ensuring our firm's continued growth and prosperity as a leading firm of specialist insolvency and turnaround practitioners.

We are therefore delighted to announce the appointment of Adrian Hunter as a partner to the Brooke Bird Practice with effect from 1 October 2016.

Adrian joined the firm in February 2015 following a 20+year insolvency career and he prides himself on his capacity to engage and assist all parties involved in the insolvency process and help those in financial difficulty navigate what can be a complex and overawing experience. This ability compliments the Brooke Bird skills and philosophies when dealing with those in financial difficulties.

Both Robyn and Adrian continue to enjoy working with new clients and their trusted advisors to deal with their distressed debt problems (both corporate and personal) and guide them in a collaborative approach to insolvency.

Brooke Bird looks forward to being able to help your clients achieve their desired outcomes, be that through an informal restructure / turnaround plan or with a formal insolvency appointment.
